Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-10, drawn to a coal-bed-methane water treatment system, classified in class 210, subclass 96.1.
- II. Claims 11-32, drawn to an apparatus for producing sulfurous acid, classified in class 422, subclass 161.
- III. Claims 33-61, drawn to a coal-bed-methane water treatment system, classified in class 210, subclass 96.1.
- IV. Claim 62, drawn to a method for treating coal-bed-methane water, classified in class 210, subclass 743.

Inventions I together with III and II are related as combinations and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combinations as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed, for example, the combinations do not require the hydraulic air inlet shut-off safety system as required by the subcombination (see claim 11). The subcombination has separate utility such as for treating water in a sewage treatment plant.

Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed, for example, the sensor, controller, and flow control means of the subcombination (see claim 6). The subcombination has separate utility such as in a system not including a scrub-tower.

Inventions IV and I together with II and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatuses could be used to treat waste water from an industrial plant producing alkaline water, for example, a paper-making plant.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
